Style-Saving-Satisfaction

Three Big Reasons for Buying Wall Paper at Ward's

EACH year more than two million families make their homes brighter and more pleasant with new Wall Paper from Ward's.

With such a throng of happy home makers coming back to us season after season, we can buy direct from the most progressive mills; we can have the most stylish patterns made especially for us and sell them to you at half what other stores must ask.

Choose from the Season's Best

This season, as always, Ward's leads in stylish papers. Fashion says, "Brighter colors and larger patterns on our walls." And we have carefully selected for you the very best of the season's new designs—handsome, artistic patterns, yet conservative and suitable for the average American home.

Only this fall the foremost wall paper manufacturers brought out the new panel moldings shown on Page 111; and almost before they are on the general market you can get them from Ward's in tints to harmonize with practically all of our papers.

Our 1926 patterns have been selected from the best offerings of twelve different manufacturers, which enables us to give our customers surprising variety in color and design—variety never possible for the store which has all its paper made by one mill.

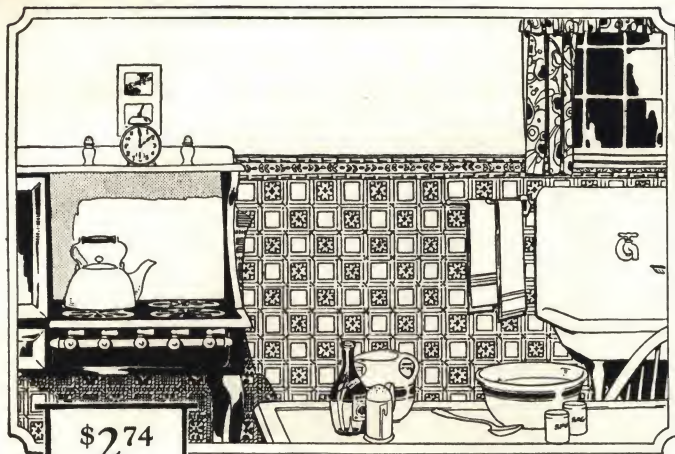

Your satisfaction is as important to Ward's as your first order. Wall paper rightly chosen is always a satisfaction; and this sample book is designed to give you practical help in selecting the patterns best suited to your home. Guided by its suggestions, you cannot fail to find exactly what your home needs—handsome, stylish wall papers which will be a pride and delight to every member of your household.

There is more joy in entertaining when you know your living room is lovely—its walls well clothed in good wall paper.

Make Bedrooms Restful— Kitchens Sparkling Clean

BEDROOMS should be dainty and refreshing. And here you can use the simple, inexpensive floral stripes, chintzes, cretonnes and new washed blends. Most people prefer cheery bright colors in their bedrooms; but always remember that these rooms are intended for rest. You are irritated, not soothed, by colors you dislike. So whenever possible, let each member of the family choose the paper for his or her own bedroom.

Most practical, and in the long run economical, for the kitchen are the washable finish papers—Pages 100, 101, 102, 103. But if you use an ordinary wall paper, be sure to choose a pretty one in a light color and a trim regular design. You will find it so much more pleasant for the room in which you work.

Even when kitchen paper is dark, it must be changed frequently to keep it fresh and clean. In this book are sixteen very attractive patterns for less than ten cents a single roll; so you can easily afford to keep your kitchen always as fresh and pleasing as any other room in your home.

Every pattern shown in Ward's sample book is always in stock, ready to ship to you the moment your order is received. Ward's 24 Hour Service means no waiting. The day your order is received your paper is carefully packed and started on its way to you.

THE biggest item of expense in papering is, of course, labor. But you can so easily be your own paper hanger—and then every cent you have saved by buying from Ward's is clear gain.

In the homes of thousands of Ward's customers, mother and father have done the work themselves; and their enthusiastic letters tell of their delight in the new rooms, the saving they have made, and how much oftener they are planning to have new wall paper now that they realize how easy it is to paper a room.

On Pages 120 and 121 are complete directions for hanging wall paper, with clear illustrations showing every step. Just work quickly and carefully, following these instructions—and you need never hesitate to attempt papering any room in your home.

Nor do you need to buy a lot of expensive supplies. A table or smooth boards laid on boxes can serve as a pasting table; you can make good paste in your own kitchen; shears or a sharp knife can be your trimmer, a whisk broom your smoothing brush, an ordinary furniture caster your seam roller. It will be wise to buy a new, clean pasting brush—but that, with your wall paper, will be your sole expense.

Inside paint, varnish and color stain—everything needed for refreshing walls and woodwork, are listed at money saving prices on the back of this book.

Of Course We Will Trim Your Wall Paper

But We Advise Against Trimming Before Paste is Applied

Trimming Paper Is Very Simple

Trimming the wall paper is about the easiest and simplest step in hanging it. The best way is to order our wall paper trimming outfit 575 X 827, Page 122, which includes a rotary knife and a ruled straight edge. But you can do a good job with our wheel knife 75 X 810 or 75 X 811, Page 122, using a yard stick or straight board as a guide. Or you may use a pair of sharp shears, following carefully the edge of the printed pattern for your guide.

It takes but a few minutes to trim each strip after you are through pasting and folding. (See directions for hanging wall paper, Pages 120 and 121.) And it is much wiser to spend this little extra time than to buy your wall paper already trimmed and run the risk of spoiling an entire job because of smearing.

Any professional paper hanger will advise you to buy your wall paper with the selvage on, and trim it after pasting.

Run No Risk of Spoiling the Entire Wall

Another danger. As you paste, lumps and excess paste usually gather at the edge of the strip. If you have left the paper untrimmed, you simply cut off this excess with the selvage. And when the paper is pressed against the wall, there is no danger that paste will ooze out and smear over the adjoining strip and spoil the whole wall, as shown in the picture in the circle above. The safe way is to paste first, and then trim your wall paper.

Read This Notice Before Looking at Samples

Border
($\frac{1}{3}$ Actual Size)

Base (Shown $\frac{1}{3}$ Actual Size)

The patterns in this book are actual samples of the side wall paper. Across the top of each is the border to match printed in true colors, but reduced to about one-third its actual size. When border includes a base it is printed across the bottom of the sample, also reduced to about one-third actual size. (See diagram left.)

This is a special feature used by Montgomery Ward & Co. and patented by us in United States and Canada.

We show our wall paper in this way so you can see from our sample book exactly how it will look on your walls.

You can see for yourself how the border will harmonize with your rugs and furniture, and you do not have to depend on small, often inaccurate reproductions of the borders as shown in other wall paper sample books. This is a distinct advantage in buying from Ward's.

As you make your selections keep this always in mind. Side wall is shown actual size. Border and base are shown about one-third actual size.

On the back of each sample is a description of the paper, giving actual size of the border, price and shipping weight.

Remember We Sell in Double Length Rolls — 16 Yards Long

We sell our wall paper in double length rolls, 16 yards long. This gives you just twice as much wall paper as you get in an ordinary single roll of 8 yards. We do this because the double length roll cuts to better advantage and with less waste than a single roll. From your 16 yard roll you can cut five average side wall strips—from floor to ceiling, while from the 8 yard roll you can cut only two strips.

We know you will want to compare prices to see how much you are saving by buying your wall paper at Ward's. So, for your convenience, on the back of each sample we quote not only the price per double length roll, but also the price per single roll. This is for your convenience only, to help you in buying wisely and economically at Ward's.

We Sell in Double Length Rolls—16 Yards—Only.

JUST 3¢ a single roll — paper for the entire room for less than a dollar! Think what that can mean to you. Now you can plan to repaper, not just one room, but several, and the whole job will cost you only a few dollars.

Each year we offer our customers this outstanding bargain—a truly stylish, attractive pattern for only 3¢ a single roll. But never before has this paper been so pretty in design and coloring, and so sturdy and heavy in quality.

A pleasing combination of gray, lavender and yellow, with an unusually appealing cut out border beneath a gray white ceiling. Unlike so many low priced papers, its colors are clear and clean; in style and appearance it is what you would expect to find selling for 5¢ to 10¢ a roll. This is just one example of the saving you can make on wall paper at Ward's.

DON'T put off papering. Walls become soiled so gradually that perhaps you have not realized your home needs new wall paper. Look about it today; if a single wall is dingy or faded, plan to repaper at once. Prices such as these show you how little the whole job will cost.

Just a little more than one dollar will buy enough of this pattern for an entire room. Compare it with wall papers usually selling for only 5¢ a single roll—notice the fresh, clean colors; the stylish, popular pattern; and the good, sturdy grade of paper that insures easy hanging and long service on your walls.

The Duchess Lace, with its lacy rose design, may be used anywhere in your home, but especially in the hall or well lighted kitchen or bedroom. Its ceiling is a light tan—the tint you see in the attractive cut out border.

GRANITE wall papers will always be the popular choice for kitchens because the close all over pattern makes pleasing, clean looking walls—the delight of the good housekeeper.

The Ingle Nook, in color and certainly in price, is most practical for your kitchen, yet it is pretty enough for any other room in your home.

Touches of blue, rose and sunny yellow make it cheery and colorful; the threads of silver give it brightness; and its attractive cut out border which includes a narrow base trim, give it character not often found in papers selling for only 6¢ a singleroll.

Feel the quality of this paper. It is sturdy, heavy goods which will look well and wear well, and can be cleaned readily if necessary. The ceiling is gray toned white, of the same extra heavy grade as the side wall paper.

SO often low priced wall papers are dull and colorless. How delightful to find the Cottage Rose brimful of brightness and color, yet so inexpensive that paper for an entire room will cost you less than a dollar and a half.

The Cottage Rose is one of the prettiest patterns of the season, and one of the most practical, for you may use it in any room in the house and with any furnishings.

The gray ground, by far the most popular color this season, makes a cool, refreshing looking room; the dainty flower stripe with its galleaded cut out border, brings a touch of color which never fails to make a room more pleasant; the silver throughout the pattern gives it richness surprising in a paper at this low price.

To complete this pretty pattern, the ceiling is silvery gray.

DELFT blue and gray. Can you think of two colors more delightful for a kitchen? They are bright and cheery, yet cool and restful; and best of all, they do not show soil easily.

Most housekeepers like these simple, regular tile designs; but so often it is difficult to find in low priced paper tile patterns that are really pretty—paper you enjoy seeing on your walls.

The Delft tile is pretty. And it is the very best value we have ever offered for only 7¢ a single roll, for it is an extra heavy grade of paper, bound to give you better service and satisfaction.

The Delft Tile has the popular wide cut out border, in the same bright colors as its side wall; its ceiling is a soft, light gray—a very good choice for the kitchen, because it will not so soon become disfigured by smoke and soot.

PETER PAN, just as quaint and delightful as its name, seems made for the sunny little bedroom, which low ceiling, jutting chimney and odd angles make difficult to arrange attractively.

These colorful stripe patterns seem to carry the ceiling higher, while the trim regularity of the tiny roses and satiny ribbon, has a way of hiding awkward corners and angles.

Only when you see what Peter Pan can do for such a room—or for any other in your home, do you realize fully how much depends upon its walls, how necessary to keep them fresh in well chosen wall paper.

Topped by its gay cut out border and gray ceiling, the Peter Pan is a real bargain. It has the style, the clean, fresh coloring, the quality of papers selling for 15¢ a single roll. And at Ward's it costs but 7¢.

A FEW years ago really beautiful tapestry patterns were made only in the high priced papers. But today even the most modest home may have tapestried walls.

These large, leafy designs are always pleasing and practical wherever you use them, but you will like the Verdure best for the good sized living room, hall or dining room, where wide wall spaces need well defined patterns.

With such soft tones, your room needs color, and at little expense you can make it radiant merely with curtains of sheer silk in soft rose, and plump pillows of deeper blue, pumpkin yellow and Lincoln green in tucked cozy chairs.

Complete the Verdure is a deep cut out border in the same artistic colors as the side wall, and a ceiling in a harmonizing lighter gray.

OLDER people love best the old, familiar things and it is hard for them to feel at home in new, changed surroundings.

So, when you select clean, fresh wall paper for the old home it is often wisest to choose a pattern not so different from the one which was on the walls before.

The Chambord is a modern adaptation of a well loved wall paper design, the medallion stripe; in warm tan, with a cut out border in blue, rose and brown, and a ceiling of harmonizing lighter tan.

Simple and inexpensive, this pattern may be used anywhere in the house, from kitchen to parlor. It is certain to look well with any furnishings—the dear, old fashioned things which seem to belong to the old homestead, or the pretty modern furniture of dining room, living room or bedroom.

"SILVER bells and cockle shells, and pretty maids all in a row." It does remind you of Mistress Mary, quite contrary, and her quaint, prim little garden.

And if you delight in making every room in your home pretty and attractive, you will picture one of the bedrooms with this lovely shell tinted paper on its walls.

You need never fear that the prim regularity of its design will grow tiresome; for so delicate are its tints of pink, blue and yellow that they blend into the softest, most restful silvery gray—you are never conscious of the pattern.

With a leafy cut out border as pretty as the side wall itself, and a silvery white ceiling, this is the ideal paper for baby's nursery, for the breakfast nook, or indeed any room in the little, informal, pleasant home.

LITTLE rooms need small, delicate patterns, and soft, pale colors; so for the smaller bedroom, you could find nothing more pleasing than the Delight.

Gray, the tint of its lacy background, is known as a "receding" color, for it makes a wall seem farther away, and so gives an effect of added size. The cool blue of forget-me-nots needs the brightening yellow of the little tea roses, so in this pretty combination you have everything you need to make a little room attractive.

As a final touch, paint floor and wood-work creamy yellow; use gay "hit and miss" rag rugs on the floor; and instead of a bedspread, an old fashioned piece quilt in a block design of blue, green, yellow or rose against a ground of white.

When this room is finished it will be hard to believe its wall paper cost but 7½¢ a single roll.

BEDROOMS should be cheery and inviting, but they must be restful. What could be more soothing to wearied bodies and eyes than the soft, cool hues of the Vista Gray?

People who work all day come home with nerves as well as bodies tired out, and wise home makers will choose soothing tints and indistinct patterns for their sleeping rooms.

In cooler tones of gray and blue, this pattern will be most pleasing for the sunny south or west room, the narrow hall or smaller room downstairs.

Just a shade deeper, but in perfect harmony with the side wall is the cut out border, beneath a ceiling of gray white. With light woodwork and floors and simple white curtains, the Vista Gray creates a room to invite peace and repose.

THAT dear little story book girl who learned the secret of gladness, would have loved this pretty wall paper for her own tiny room. And if you would make your own little folk as happy as she was, let them awaken each morning to the smiling loveliness of the Pollyanna.

A tiny, delicate pattern, you will like it best for the small bedroom which has plenty of light from the north or east. Here you will find that its warm, sunny tan has done wonders in making this room more pleasant and homelike.

For the Pollyanna, choose a color scheme of either blue or pink, for both these pretty tints appear in the lacelike stripe and the unusually attractive cut out border. The border includes a narrow base which will be a very effective trimming about the baseboards. The ceiling is a delicate tint of tan.

WHETHER you choose this pattern for bedroom or parlor, you will be delighted with your room, for the pretty Yellow Primrose will make it look just as you have always wanted it.

In the room you wish to be dainty, a bit lighter and not quite so odd in shape, it works miracles. The silvery background seems to lend it added size; the small all-over pattern makes you forget its corners and angles; its soft gray tone and white ceiling bring it the light it has always needed.

The tiny pink and yellow blossoms are reflected in its deep cut out border, which gives this paper just enough of the warm coloring to make it especially helpful in the room with somewhat cold north or east light. That is the secret of wall paper. It costs so little and does so much to make every room more beautiful.

THE delicate, cobweb tracery of this pattern comes to us from a wonderful old Mantilla of Spanish lace, worn centuries ago by some dark eyed Senorita in a city of sunny Spain.

A fleeting memory of that sunshine, and the sparkle of dark eyes, is caught in the gleam of gold, rose, or soft blue half hidden in this design.

Beautiful in itself, the Mantilla lends its beauty to your home, and on your walls becomes a soft, restful, yet colorful gray, the ideal background for the medium sized room with light from the north or east.

Topped by a wide border in gayer rose and blue against deeper gray, and finished with a ceiling of creamy hue, the Mantilla is a striking example of the beauty you may bring to your home, at so little cost, with wall paper.

TO make a room cozy you must begin with its walls. Paper them in some warm color like the pleasing, sunny tan of the Oak Leaf, and you will see how wall paper alone can transform a room and make it warm and inviting.

The Oak Leaf seems designed for the little room whose many windows bring it almost too much light for real comfort.

This tan will tone down the harshness and glare, while the sunshine will bring forth all the beauty of the lacy shadow stripe, and all the richness of the glowing autumn hues in the cut out border.

A very pale tan ceiling completes the Oak Leaf—one of the very nicest of our low priced papers. A stylish, artistic pattern suitable for any room in your home, either upstairs or downstairs.

WALL paper, unlike many of the furnishings of the home, need not be expensive to be beautiful. The Elfland Tapestry, with its warm autumn tints and graceful pattern, is as effective as wall papers costing twice its price, yet it costs only 10¢ a single roll—you can paper your entire room for a little more than two dollars.

Because of its soft pastelle tones, this pattern will be suitable for the large bedroom as well as for the more formal room downstairs, the hall, dining room or living room. It will be especially good for the room with north or east light as its tints of rose and soft, creamy yellow are warm sunny colors—just what these rooms require.

The same tones, but in richer, more definite hues, appear in its cut out border and suggests pale rose for hangings or pillows. Its ceiling is almost white.

FOR the kitchen, hall or dining room where there is much coming and going, it is wise economy to use a paper like the Carnival—practical in color and low in price. You feel you can replace it the moment it becomes dingy.

The side wall is just a simple stripe sketched in black and gold against the soft gray ground. But the cut out border is brimful of fresh, gay color—the touch of brightness needed to make any room more pleasant. It includes, at no additional cost, a narrow base which will be an effective trimming around the baseboard. The ceiling is a delicate tan.

Low priced papers are often dull and colorless. But not at Ward's. Here every pattern is pretty and attractive, bright and clean in color and stylish in design. You can be sure of finding just the pattern you want at the price you wish to pay.

PEOPLE always gather in the sunniest room in a home; for folks, like flowers, need sunshine.

Of course not every room in a house can be bright, but you can do wonders for the sunless room by giving it walls of warm yellow like the Mardi Gras.

Against the background of light tan its leaf and blossom figure is carried out in green, deep rose and warm yellow, a combination which is unusual and pleasing. An overprint of gold tones up every bit of color in this paper, making it ideal for the bedroom, hall or dining room, or even for the living room which has always seemed dull and uninviting.

The same attractive colors appear in the conventional cut out border, which is 8 inches wide—a very good style for the room with a medium or high ceiling. The ceiling paper is light tan with invisible design.

THE small room, often so difficult to make attractive, will seem actually larger and more airy when you see it repapered with the pretty California Poppy.

The simple, gray wall, with just a suggestion of blue, rose and buttercup yellow is cool and refreshing, while the pretty cut out border, with its brighter blue and apricot, brings the gay note of color that a small room needs.

This pattern includes a narrow base, an effective trimming above the baseboard, especially in bedroom, hall or dining room. With its light gray ceiling the California Poppy gives its room an air of fresh daintiness, always so pleasing to the guest who enters it for the first time.

Pretty wall paper is not expensive—you can well afford to repaper several rooms when you buy from Ward's.

APPLE Blossom time is but a few short days in May, but the loveliness you bring into your home with this dainty wall paper is with you always.

Choose it for the tiny attic bedroom, for your pretty guest chamber, or for the dining or living room too much shadowed by porch or trees.

Its delicate gray and silver ground will catch and keep every beam of sunlight, and make even the dimmest room bright and livable.

Whatever the room for which you choose it, you will be more than pleased with its narrow band border. Colorful garlands of leaves and blossoms are set off against a background of black—one of the newest and most popular wall paper effects. Against the white ceiling it gives contrast and character to your entire room.

ROOMS that are too light are just as uninviting as rooms that are not light enough; you can never settle down in them and be truly comfortable.

The quaint little Monticello with its flavor of old Colonial days, will be just what you need in such rooms, for its warm faun brown will subdue the light and soften the glare.

And you need never fear that the Monticello room will be too somber, even though it is brown, for behind its leafy pattern is a sheen of gold, like sunshine itself, while its deep cut out border is gay with autumn colors—Indian summer sky, flaming sumac and warm brown oak.

With its light tan ceiling, it may be used in little rooms or big ones—in bedroom, dining room, parlor or hall—a pattern everyone in the family will like and enjoy as long as it is on the walls.

IN their large rooms, such as the wide hall, long living room, parlor or dining room, people are now using large, well defined wall paper patterns like the graceful Sylvan Leaf.

Against a plain gray ground its intricate leafy figure is etched in ivory and penciled in gold—an effect at once most unusual and yet most pleasing on your walls.

Of course it is always advisable to select a paper in harmony with your own furnishings. You will find this a very happy choice for the room in which you have rugs or upholstery in green or deep rose—the two colors which predominate in the very effective cut out border. The Sylvan Leaf ceiling is a harmonizing light gray.

Once you see this paper on your walls, you will appreciate how little it costs to have new wall paper in all your rooms when you buy from Ward's.

YOUR sunny south or west room will be most pleasant if you choose for its walls some soft, cool colors like the blue and gray so nicely combined in the Ophelia Rose.

You will like this pattern best for the good size room, either upstairs or downstairs, for here its irregular design of leaves and blossoms will fill the wide wall spaces and make your room more friendly and homelike than you had ever dreamed possible.

Just a touch of yellow—the pretty soft shade of the side wall and cut out border, should be used in your curtains, pillows or lamp shades; and no matter what the style or your furnishings, the effect will be pretty and inviting. The Ophelia ceiling is a harmonizing light gray—exactly the tone needed to complete a room which will be pleasing and artistic.

ONLY when you see this paper on your walls will you appreciate how wisely you have chosen; for no matter what the size or outlook of your room or what its furnishings, these shadow stripe patterns are always right.

The delicate lacelike figure is full of color, yet on your walls you will find that it has toned to a warm tan, delightfully restful for the room with plenty of light.

Gay tints of blue, rose and green in the deep cut out border will give just the contrast this room needs to make it cheery, while the light tan ceiling will bring brightness to its every corner.

In choosing your wall paper you will, of course, keep in mind the color of your rug. Whether it is blue, rose, green or brown or a combination of several of these shades, the Gossamer Filet will harmonize with it perfectly.

THE little north bedroom, which so often seems a bit cold and cheerless, becomes cozy and inviting when you choose for its walls a warm, sunny yellow tan like the dainty Nosegay.

Stripes always will be the most popular patterns for bedrooms; they are so trim and fresh looking, and they do seem to make their room larger and higher.

The Nosegay, shown here in such warm yellow tan, comes also in light blue. In both colors the pretty cut out border is the same—clusters of blossoms tumbling out from sunny fields, but in shades to harmonize with the side wall.

The ceiling is the same heavy quality paper in lighter, harmonizing tint. With paper like this at only 11¢ a single roll, every bedroom in your home should have fresh wall paper this season.

THE lovely Titania is only 11¢ a single roll. Do you realize what that means? An entire room can be repapered for less than $2.50.

And the moment the first strip is hung you will be so happy with your new room for you will know that it is going to be prettier and pleasanter than ever before.

In your nicest bedroom, sewing room, or parlor, these silvery sea shell tints will catch every beam of sunlight; the leafy pattern will seem to hide every awkward angle and corner.

Best of all you will like the Titania's cut out border, for it is as novel as it is effective. Beneath the silvery white ceiling this band of summer flowers is a most pleasing note of color, set off against a background of black. Fresh and dainty, the Titania is a pattern every member of the family will like.

YOU will never step into the room for which you have chosen this pattern without thinking how much prettier and pleasanter it has made your room.

For there is gladness and laughter in this intricate, swirling design—you can almost see merry dancing figures against its soft gray filigree.

Dainty and refreshing in your guest room, it still has the dignity needed for the wall covering of the more formal rooms downstairs.

These unconventional, irregular patterns have a way of making small rooms seem larger, and the soft gray and silver will bring a dull room unbelievable brightness.

In pleasing contrast above this dainty marbled sidewall is the colorful cut out border, just enough deeper in tone to provide an artistic finish, beneath the gray white ceiling.

NOW that panelled walls have become so fashionable, you will want at least one of your rooms panelled. You can choose no lovelier paper for this purpose than the Flower of the Orient.

Wonderful oriental colors—coral, sapphire, emerald—are modulated to a misty blend, shot with gold; a design of richness and elegance suitable for large dining room, living room or hall of the finest home.

Even though you plan to do your own papering, you may still have the panel effect. Our panel molding No. 576 X 9154 is designed to be hung at properly spaced intervals right over the side wall pattern. The sketch in the front of this book shows how easily this is done.

This pattern will be equally nice hung in the usual way with its own cut out border and tan ceiling. Or use binder 576 X 9123, 576 X 9150, 576 X 9138, on Page 111.

THESE pretty cretonne designs came to us from France, but American home makers quickly learned what attractive rooms they make and the cretonnes are among the most popular patterns of the season.

Le Matin (The Morning) is as fresh and lovely as its name promises, a pattern you may use in living room or dining room, or the bedroom you want to look particularly nice. You will like it best with light wood-work, the lighter type of painted furniture, or comfortable wicker chairs.

For the medium size room you will like Le Matin with its own pretty cut out border and white ceiling. But in the larger room it will be most effective combined with our panel molding 576 X 9151 or 576 X 9152, shown on Page 111. Sketch on Page 2 shows how easily these panel moldings are hung.

A ROOM where folks will like to sit and visit; where work and worry are forgotten and one sinks into a cozy chair, so glad to be at home.

It costs so little to create such a room. Give it walls in these restful, soothing grays, and no matter how simply it is furnished, it will be inviting.

A lighter pattern such as the Arcady is best with light woodwork, and with the slenderer style of furniture, now so popular. But it will look well and harmonize well with almost any furnishings, and may be used in living or dining room as well as in a bedroom.

The Arcady has a very effective cut out border, in deeper shades of the side wall colorings. But it will be even more pleasing hung in panel style with our blue and white panel molding, 576 X 9151, Page 111. The ceiling is white.

MADAME DU BARRY, remembered through history for her exquisite taste, chose a wall paper much like this for her own boudoir. And modern women, who may have the best, select these soft hued washed blends for the nicest bedrooms in their homes.

If you want a room which will be the envy of all who see it, use the pretty Du Barry in the popular new panel treatment. Our panel moldings No. 576 X 9151 or 576 X 9152, shown on Page 111, will harmonize nicely with its soft tints, and the sketch in the front of the book shows how easily these moldings are hung.

The Du Barry will be just as pretty and stylish hung in the regular way, for it has an attractive cut out border which includes a narrow base, and a silvery white ceiling which brings out the satiny stripe of the side wall.

MOTHER'S room. How many times in years to come will your children see again in retrospect that dear familiar room, so rich in happy memories of you?

For their sake, as well as yours, your bedroom should have the prettiest paper of all. And here it is. Breath o' Spring is a modification of the popular chintz, but in softer, more delicate colors, restful and refreshing.

Its graceful, blossoming bough pattern, suggesting orchards in May, is so different from the usual floral designs that guests are bound to notice and admire your new wall paper.

Use it in the little, not too well lighted bedroom with this attractive cut out border; or in the larger, higher room in panel style with our panel moldings 576 X 9151 or 576 X 9152, Page 111.

IN the quaint, irregular Cherry Bloom design there is a hint of Japan—just enough to make this pattern delightfully different from the usual light tan wall papers of its price.

With its quiet harmony and shadowy pattern it is exactly what you want for the smaller room in which you plan to use lots of color—gay chintz or cretonne curtains, furniture painted in the brighter hues, or the pretty hooked rugs that the clever homemakers create out of the old family “rag bag.”

Or you may use this Cherry Bloom in the simply furnished bedroom which you want quiet and restful; or in the smaller dining room, the hall or parlor. Whatever the room for which you choose it, this pattern with its dainty cut out border and its light tan ceiling, will delight you with its freshness and individuality.

A QUAIN, old fashioned pattern for a quaint, old fashioned room—the Lady Gray recalls the simple, almost severe wall papers of grandmother's day.

And if you still cherish some of her beautiful old cherry or walnut furniture—a bureau, highboy or four-poster—you can give it no nicer setting than this prim, dainty stripe.

It will be just as pretty for the modern bedroom, especially if woodwork and floors are painted the rosy gray of the leafy stripe and narrow cut out border.

Frippy white curtains with tiebacks of rose and yellow; a crinkled bedspread of pink or gold; gay braided rugs upon the floor. And lo! the room is complete—and at so little cost of time or money.

With its light gray ceiling and its warm, rosy colors, it is ideal for the room that faces north or east.

EVERY season brings more and lovelier chintz patterns. And no wonder, for they do make the most delightful walls for bedroom, breakfast room, and even a living room if it has the quaint old fashioned furniture stylish when these patterns first were used.

Bedrooms, usually simply furnished, need bright, cheery colors, and well defined patterns on their walls. And with a paper like Blossom Time they need little else to make them pretty.

Paper for the entire room will cost you around $2.50, so you can afford the touches which will make it perfect; woodwork of light gray—the color in the cut out border; frilled curtains, tied back with bands of pink; a touch of pink to bedspread and for the bedside lamp—a shade of yellow lined in rose. Little details costing almost nothing—yet this room will be blossom time itself.

OF course, you will want a blue room in your home, and it should be the sunny south or west bedroom, for here you need cool, soft blues and grays of this lovely washed blend.

With the Cerulean on the walls, it is so easy to carry out these dainty color effects. Woodwork painted delicate gray; curtains and bedspread of blue and white, little blue and white rag rugs and lamps or candles shaded in golden yellow—the tint suggested through this pattern. Can't you picture how lovely your room will be?

For a small room you will like the Cerulean best with this simple, cutout border which matches it so perfectly. But in the large bedroom, the dining room or sun parlor, it will be most effective in the new panel style, combined with our panel molding 576 X 9151 or 576 X 9152, Page 111.

A NY room can be made pleasant and inviting if its furnishings are in harmony with their surroundings. That is why walls are so important, and wall paper must be chosen so carefully.

Take the well lighted room with walnut or weathered oak furniture. Give it a light wall paper and your room is filled with glare; every piece of furniture stands out, harsh and black against the light wall and you wonder why you never feel comfortable and at home in it.

But choose a soft sunny brown like this inexpensive mosaic; the light is subdued; the furnishings blend in with their surroundings and people say "what a cozy room this is."

Blue, rose and brown, so effectively combined in the cut out border, suggest these colors for rugs and draperies; for glass curtains use the creamy tan of the mosaic ceiling.

IF you have wanted pretty, bright colors in your home, and hesitated because you feared you might tire of them, you will be delighted with the Romany.

Here are beautiful autumn colors, but so softly blended that they will bring an air of restfulness and harmony.

Dark enough to soften the glare in a light room, this pattern has gleams of gold and silver among its leaves, giving it the life and interest which never fails to make a room pleasanter.

You may use the Romany anywhere in your home—hall, parlor, living room or bedroom. But the touch of Gypsy coloring in its maple leaf cut out border makes it even nicer for the dining room, where people always like brighter, more friendly walls. The ceiling is a lighter tan, the correct tint for complete harmony.

WHERE several rooms open into one another, and you wish to give the illusion of spaciousness, choose the Jack Frost—one of the loveliest of the lower priced fresco blends.

These stylish blends are designed to give the effect of rough plaster walls decorated by hand. In the Jack Frost, amid the swirling over tracery and the half hidden sparkle of silver and gold, you can almost see the stroke of the artist's brush.

Well spaced stripes of black and gold give this paper distinctive character, and relieve the monotony you feel so quickly with plain walls.

To make this pattern perfect for almost any room in any home, it needs only its cheery cut out border and base, bright with the most delightful shades of blue, rose and brown. Its ceiling is a pleasing tint of gray.

THE entrance hall with its open stairway should have a wall covering of dignity and formality, and you could find no pattern which expresses both so well as does the Chateau.

This leafy pattern is a modification of the usual tapestry, designed and colored to represent the quaint old wool embroideries; a penciling of gold through the design lends richness seldom found in wall papers of this price.

On your walls its varied colorings blend to a warm tan, a delightful tone for dining or living room, or large, well lighted bedroom.

The Chateau is completed by a light tan ceiling and a medium width cut out border of formal design. If your rooms are low you may prefer an even narrower border; and our binders No. 576 X 9122 or 576 X 9123 will go nicely with this attractive paper.

D AINTY and refreshing, the Phantom Flower suggests itself at once for your nicest bedroom.

On your walls its shadowy pattern becomes a delicate ivory tone, the ideal setting for either dark polished walnut or the ivory painted bedroom furniture now so popular.

Although you think of it first for a bedroom, this paper will be just as pretty and suitable for one of your rooms downstairs, particularly if the room has a low ceiling or seems to need these touches of sapphire, rose and gold to bring it brightness.

A cream white ceiling and the attractive cut out border shown here complete the Phantom Flower—a pattern which in style and quality can be compared with papers ordinarily selling elsewhere for 35 or 40 cents a roll.

CRETONNES were made first in France, their gay vari-colored patterns being printed by hand on coarse linen.

This Cretonne paper carries out this novel linen effect in the delicate overprint of gray, which also serves to soften and subdue its colors.

In the big sunny living or dining room this blending of gray, blue and brown will prove most homelike, while the large leafy design will fill the wide wall spaces, often so bare and empty in large rooms.

You will like the dash of sapphire blue in the cut out border, especially if you use the same hue elsewhere in your room—a bit of blue china on the mantel or a bright cushion in a sleepy hollow chair.

In the low room you may wish a narrow border, and binder 576 X 9122 or 576 X 9128 will go nicely with the Cretonne Print. The ceiling is a harmonizing lighter gray.

NOTHING lends to a dining room such dignity and grace as a wainscoting of dark polished wood. Perhaps you are fortunate enough to have such a room; if so, you can select for the upper third of your wall this rich, colorful pattern—the Royal Brocade.

But if you have plain walls, why not this season give yourself the room of your dreams? For the lower two-thirds of its walls use one of the handsome wainscoting, leather or fiber veneer papers, shown on Page 119, which gives the effect of a real wood or leather paneling. For your upper wall, this blue and gold brocade with its narrow band border in blue, rose and dull green, and its cream white ceiling, the color just suggested in the border. Easy to plan, easy to carry out, this treatment will give the effect of expensive wood paneling, and will cost but a few dollars.

THE living room is the very heart of the home. Sunny and inviting of an afternoon, cozy by lamplight, it should be the magnet that draws the family together in happy companionship.

The secret of such a room is harmony. And no matter what the style of your furnishings, you can choose the Columbine with the assurance that it will harmonize perfectly with rugs or upholstery.

Delicate tones of gray, shading into rose and blue; such a wall is certain to make its room pleasant by daylight. And mellow lamplight will reveal soft, radiant threads of gold beneath the leafy pattern.

The novel cut out border, penciled in black and gold, lends distinctiveness which you like for the nicest rooms of your home. With its silvery white ceiling, the Columbine is more than usually beautiful for a paper which costs but 14¢ a single roll.

AUTUMN time, when maples flame to gold and scarlet—the time when hearts turn homeward, and home must be made ready for long winter days.

What colors could be more homelike than the gold of ripened grain, blue of autumn skies, or the rose of maple leaves just turning?

From welcoming hall to tiniest attic chamber, there is not a room in your house that can not be made more homelike with the Golden Maple on its walls.

Its leafy pattern is as suitable for the large room as the small one, and its sheen of gold will bring sunlight to the darkest corner. Who could be anything but happy with such sparkling colors, such a bevy of dancing leaves as these in the pretty cut out border?

For a narrower border use binder 576 X 9122 shown on Page 111. The ceiling is warm gray.

OF all your rooms, the dining room is the most difficult to make truly homelike and cordial, for its furnishings are usually somewhat stiff and formal.

But choose for its walls a colorful tapestry like the Babylon, and your dining room will be radiant with hospitality.

The soft, deep blue of this pattern, its rose and leaves of gold will bring out all the beauty of your furniture, linen and silver; the delicate threadlike overprint which gives this paper the effect of a hand woven fabric, gives it also richness of a very high priced tapestry wall covering.

Included with the deep, cut out border is a narrow base which will be an effective finish in keeping with the dignity of dining room, hall or larger living room; the ceiling is a creamy tone, just light enough to reveal the fullest beauty of this handsome design.

ONLY when you see this pattern on your walls will you appreciate what a truly lovely wall paper you have chosen. Then you will discover that it has the effect of a beautifully hand tinted plaster wall—a treatment which would cost many times the price of this inexpensive paper.

This golden tan is a warm color, best suited to the room with north or east light. And because you are always happiest in the room where walls and furnishings are in harmony, you will like this blend best where rugs are in soft shades of green and red—the colors so exquisitely worked into the conventional cut out border.

Everything about the Fresco Blend—color, pattern, quality, and even its lighter ceiling—sets it apart from papers usually sold for so very little.

THINK of your wall paper as the background for your room, and you will never choose unwisely.

The lovely Gloaming, with its velvety twilight shadows and half seen thread of gold seems made for the tasteful living or dining room with light floors and wood-work and graceful, modern furniture.

Lights—softly shaded in golden yellow, a touch of blue in cushions or upholstery, draperies of soft, old rose, and no matter how simple its furnishings, this room will be so pleasant and artistic that the finest mansion might envy it.

The narrow border lends the Gloaming individuality, for these band borders are new, and daily becoming more popular; a ceiling of delicate gray brings just the brightness necessary to reveal the fullest beauty of this simple, inexpensive paper.

YOU will want to know that your walls are stylishly as well as artistically decorated. You can choose, with that assurance, one of these lovely new blends for your living room, dining room or entrance hall.

You will be surprised to see how the soft gray tones of the Rainbow Blend will lighten and brighten a room, how sunshine will bring out all its cloudy colorings and reveal a hidden thread of gold, giving it a linenlike texture seldom found in any but the high priced papers.

Deeper, richer colorings in the leafy cut out border, give this pattern needed contrast and dignity; and with its gray white ceiling, it is an ideal choice for the smaller home, where the downstairs rooms are thrown together. For a narrower, plainer border, see Binders No. 576 X 9122 or 576 X 9125, shown on Page 111.

MOST people like change and variety more than they realize, and there is no surer way of keeping them happy than to give them something new to look at; repaper with lovely new patterns from Ward's.

You can do it so inexpensively, too. A little more than $3 buys enough of this handsome blend for living or dining room, and it is surprising to see how different your rooms will look.

The rosy tan brings sunshine with it, while the delicately etched design of leaves makes a pleasing background for any style of furniture.

You can make this room radiant by using over draperies in which there is a dash of the dull red of the cut out border, and a glint of willow green. Completed by its lighter tan ceiling, Shadowray will make any room more cozy.

YOU never grow tired of the wall paper which is well chosen and in harmony with its surroundings. Such a pattern is the lovely Feather of Gold; you may choose it for any room, knowing that it will be harmonious and artistic, and that you will enjoy its beauty always.

Delicate as Jack Frost's own window pictures, its feathery figure is but half seen through rainbow clouds and sifting gold. For the little room or the large one, upstairs or downstairs, it becomes a background of pleasing harmony for any furnishings.

The Feather of Gold has endless possibilities for making lovely rooms. Use it with its own cut out border and tan ceiling, or with our narrow binders, 576 X 9122 or 576 X 9123; or have your room paneled, combining it with our panel molding 576 X 9154 shown on Page 111.

YOU couldn't find a daintier, more charming way to brighten up a room than to give it walls of this pretty, satinlike stripe.

A pleasing feature of this pattern is that you may have it in several rooms in different tints, for it comes also in a sunny yellow and a lovely soft blue ground.

Each color has the same delicate pattern of primroses embossed right into the paper itself, and the same satin stripe.

Each has a cut out border of flower garlands similar to this one, in harmonizing colors, and a light ceiling.

You could well choose these patterns for several adjoining rooms, either upstairs or downstairs; and the effect will be one of pleasing variety.

SOFTER, mistier, than a tapestry, yet not quite a blend, the Batik has caught the fullest beauty of each.

In the medium sized house where the usual tapestry might prove too heavy, it will be ideal, for its long, sunny vistas, half seen amid shadowy trees, will lend an effect of spaciousness, and make a room seem actually larger.

These warm sunlit browns are always homelike hues for the well lighted room and they have a happy way of harmonizing with almost any color or style of furniture you wish to use against them.

With its charmingly colorful cut out border, and tan ceiling, this paper gives the effect of rich water color, or fanciful batik work upon shimmering silk.

Use it with this 6-inch border, or our narrower binders, 576 X 9138 or 576 X-9147 shown in color on Page 111.

PEOPLE do love sunny rooms best. What a satisfaction, then, to know that every room in your home may be filled with golden radiance, and at so little expense, with wall paper.

Choose the Merrygold for your big north bedroom, the sitting room or parlor that has seemed shadowy; like magic it becomes bright and colorful as though sunlight were pouring in at every window.

Curtains of sheer, cool green—the shade just hinted in the flower stripes and cut out border; cushions of gay rose, green and blue; woodwork of ivory, the color of the ceiling. Can't you see what a lovely room the Merrygold will give you?

Notice how clear and clean are the Merrygold colors, how rich and heavy the paper—certain signs that this is far superior to wall papers usually selling for only 18 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ a single roll.

AMONG the season's newest papers are these retouched two tones—airy leaf designs with just a touch of some pastelle tint to give the effect of delicate water color work.

Usually such patterns are created only in the high priced papers, so you will be glad to find that the Raphael is but 18¢ a single roll. It is a paper you will be proud to have in your own living room, dining room or the large, well lighted bedroom you want particularly nice.

With such soft hued walls and a light ceiling your room needs color, and if in your curtains, cushions and lamp shades you catch the blue, rose and sunny yellow of the cut out border the effect will be tasteful and attractive, and you will marvel at how little it has cost.

FOR richness and beauty, few wall coverings can compare with the tapestries; and none make more pleasant, homelike rooms.

To the large, well lighted living room, dining room or entrance hall, the Hampton Court will lend charm and dignity and an atmosphere of quiet comfort which plain walls never give.

A tapestry is always a beautiful and fitting background for any style of furnishings, but you will find this one most pleasing for the room in which you have plain gray or blue rugs and plain overdraperies in soft old blue or mulberry—the colors so exquisitely blended in the side wall and cut out border.

If you prefer a narrower border, either binder 576 X 9123 or 576 X 9128, shown on Page 111, may be used with the Hampton Court.

NOW that panelled walls have become so fashionable, you will want at least one of your rooms panelled. You can choose no lovelier paper for this purpose than the Flower of the Orient.

Wonderful oriental colors—coral, sapphire, emerald—are modulated to a misty blend, shot with gold; a design of richness and elegance suitable for large dining room, living room or hall of the finest home.

Even though you plan to do your own papering, you may still have the panel effect. Our panel molding No. 576 X 9154 is designed to be hung at properly spaced intervals right over the side wall pattern. The sketch in the front of this book shows how easily this is done.

This pattern will be equally nice hung in the usual way with its own cut out border and tan ceiling. Or use binder 576 X 9123, 576 X 9150, 576 X 9138, on Page 111.

ON the walls of old French chateaux still hang wondrous brocaded velvets, placed there two centuries ago in the days of Louis XIV.

To the modern home velvet brocade lends dignity and quiet elegance, for wall paper has retained the beauty of these richest of all fabrics.

In dining room, hall or living room of many windows, the Brocada will soften and subdue the light, blending nicely into the richer tones of dark polished woodwork and floors. Sunlight will reveal a delicate tracery of gold, and the richness of its pebbled embossing.

Blue, rose and deep green are combined in its wide cut out border, which, against the pale gray ceiling, makes an effective finish. In a small or low room, where you wish a narrower border, use binder 576 X 9123 or 576 X 9124, Page 111.

VELVET. That is what it makes you think of. And on your walls, as in this sample, it will be recognized instantly as a wall covering far above the usual in quality as it is in beauty.

In the formal entrance hall, the dignified dining room or the homelike living room, the Brocade d'Or will create just the atmosphere you wish it to express; and its warm bronze lights and sheen of gold will seem to make all your furnishings appear richer and more beautiful.

Use it with its own pretty cut out border or with a narrower binder such as No. 576 X 9150 or 576 X 9138, shown on Page 111. Or have your room finished in the new and increasingly popular panel style, using our panel molding, No. 576 X 9154, shown in color on Page 111. Whatever style you decide upon, the border suggested will go well both with the side wall and the light tan ceiling.

IF you love color in your home—gay cretonne at the windows, bright cushions, many pictures, bits of pottery, you will be best pleased with a plain wall paper, like the delightful Parian Blend.

So often these marble papers are cold in effect. But not the Parian. Glowing tints of rose and half veiled gold make this heavy, embossed paper so warm and colorful in effect that it cannot fail to create pleasant, inviting rooms.

In the narrow hall, the smaller dining or living room you will like the Parian with its own colorful cut out border and gray white ceiling. In a larger room it lends itself well to the panel treatment, combined with panel molding 576 X 9153. The sketch on page 2 shows you how easily these moldings are hung. For a narrower, simpler border, use binder 576 X 9123 or 576 X 9138, Page 111.

WIDE wall spaces are apt to seem cold and bare unless papered wisely, and for the large living room, or wide hall with an open stairway you could find nothing more pleasing than this handsome tapestry.

Soft and velvety as its name suggests, Velour has richness of coloring that lends dignity to any room; deep embossing, brings out all its lovely hues to best advantage and shows it to be a paper of more than usual quality.

These large leafy patterns are always most effective paneled, and the Velour will combine well with our panel moulding, 576 X 9153, Page 111.

In a high room it will be very handsome hung in the usual way with its 6-inch cut out border and gray ceiling. In a low room you may prefer our narrow binders, 576 X 9122 or 576 X 9123, Page 111.

EMERALD, sapphire and topaz—the wondrous fairy colors imprisoned in old Florentine glass. On a ground of dull silver they float, cloudlike, beneath the delicately traced pattern of leaves and petals.

This beautiful design is known as a metallic blend; and only the richest, most costly fabrics can give you the luminous shining quality which makes the Florentine Crystal so lovely.

It is a pattern for the large, well lighted room, the broad hall, living room, or the dining room, where it will be a background of beauty for shining silver and linen.

In keeping with the richly embossed design is the simple cut out border, a garland effect in glowing hues of blue, green, rose and yellow, just definite enough to bring out all the beauty of the side wall. The ceiling is silvery gray.

TAPESTRIES as rich and colorful as the Renaissance are usually to be found only in the more costly wall papers. So your friends who see this lovely pattern in your home will know that you have selected a wall covering of true quality.

Although this design seems large and distinct in this sample, on your walls it blends into a soft, pleasing grayish tan—a perfect background for the furnishings of living room, dining room or entrance hall.

You will like this tapestry best in the large, well lighted room; for sunlight will bring forth its deep embossed texture, the threads of gold through its pattern, and the richer, deeper colorings of its simple band border.

For the new, effective panel treatment use the panel molding, No. 576 X 9153 shown on Page 111.

DEEP amid the misty colors of the Phantasy lies the soft, silken sheen of beautiful painted velvet—an effect sought, and often not obtained in papers of twice its price.

The delicate overprint of white, half veiling the figure gives it a certain novelty, and guests who see it in your home are certain to recognize it as a wall paper of the finest quality.

Just as unusual as the sidewall is the narrow band border, an effective conventional design in more vivid blue, rose and brown, set off by bars of gold and pencilings of black.

When you see the Phantasy on your walls, complete with its border and gray white ceiling, you realize how wisely you have chosen—and know that the money you put into this wall paper has been well spent indeed.

We do not sell in Single Rolls. We sell in Double Length Rolls only.

SOFT and mellow, like sunlight falling through cathedral windows, the quiet Cheverny brings a sense of gentle peace.

What a pleasant wall for the living room, the very heart of the home. Warm and protecting, it will seem to enfold you, shutting out care and worry from you and those you love.

Here is the richness and beauty of wonderful cut velvet, and yet the most modest home may enjoy this lovely paper on its walls, for the Cheverny cost so little that an entire room may be papered for less than $5.

For such a room you will like the dignity of the band border—rose, blue and chestnut brown—a needed note of contrast beneath the ceiling of tan. The Cheverny will be very handsome panelled, with panel molding, 576 X-9154, Page 111.

“WHAT a comfortable, cozy room. What have you done to it?” Just new wall paper, yet the room is so transformed that guests will exclaim in delight as they enter it.

This is the miracle which the Sylvania can work in any room in your home; and especially in your dining room, your hall or pleasant living room.

Like sunlight sifting through golden leaves, this lovely embossed pattern brings a soft radiance, which is made the more effective by the band of gaily tinted autumn foliage in the cut out border and the delicate tan of the ceiling.

The Sylvania suggests itself at once for the popular panel treatment. Our panel molding No. 576 X 9154, shown on Page 111, will harmonize perfectly. The sketch in the front of this sample book shows how easily these moldings are hung.

YOU cannot buy happiness, but you can buy the things that make your home dear to you. You can have pretty, pleasant walls for every room.

With its quiet coloring and unmistakable quality, the Felicity will be a delight to every member of the household.

Delicately blending amid cloudy gold it has just the suggestion of pattern which relieves a wall of bareness. It is ideal for the room with lots of color—bright hangings at the windows, a rug of strong design, especially if it has the deep blue, red, brown and yellow so nicely combined in this cut out border.

Completed by a ceiling of harmonizing lighter tan this is a paper of unusual beauty and quality—quality difficult to duplicate elsewhere at twice Ward's low price.

For narrower borders use binder 576 X 9123 or 576 X 9138, Page 111.

FOR the living room there is no lovelier color than gray, especially the warm rosy gray of this leafy pattern.

The Graywood is one of those delightfully adaptable papers becoming to almost any room. Large enough in design to look well in the good sized living or dining room, its soft colors make it equally pleasing for smaller spaces, and the vistas of sunny glades glimpsed amid the foliage lend an effect of spaciousness quite surprising.

Simple band borders are growing daily in favor, and for hall or dining room you will like the dignity of this band of blue and rose outlined against the ceiling of harmonizing, lighter gray.

The Graywood will lend itself well to panel treatment, and will combine nicely with our panel molding, 576 X 9153, shown in color on Page 111.

CLOSE your eyes for a moment and see your own living room, made lovely with Dreamwood on its walls.

Rich and beautiful as it is, the Dreamwood is not expensive; you can paper a good sized room for less than $5. And if it were twice the price you would never regret your choice, for good paper is always a joy and satisfaction.

With its misty, half-seen forests, its glimpses of golden sky, the Dreamwood suggests the beauty of costly water color papers exquisitely decorated by hand.

In keeping with a paper of such style and quality is the ceiling of lighter tan, and the simple band border, in the new 4¼ inch width, daily becoming more widely used. You can create a truly handsome hall or dining room by using the Dreamwood paneled, combined with our panel molding, 576 X 9154, Page 111.

THE newest and loveliest wall papers of the season are these airy blossoming bough designs against a background of plain, soft colors.

You have no idea how effective they are until you see them on the wall. Although this design is somewhat larger than we are used to; you will never for a moment feel that it is too large; its pastelle tints—gray, rose, blue and bark brown, blend into such perfect harmony.

Topped by a narrow cut out border in the same delicate tones, and a gray ceiling, it is perfect for the living room where the furniture is of the lighter type, for the dining room, sun porch or your nicest bedroom. In beauty and quality the Marie Antoinette compares with papers selling for a dollar a roll, or more.

For narrower borders use 576 X 9121, or 687 X 9144, Page 111.

A LTHOUGH fashion demands figured wall papers, some rooms always look best with plain walls.

The little sitting room, parlor or dining room, the narrow hall, or group of rooms opening into one another; for these the simple elegance of the Satsuma will be most artistic.

In the delicate tracery of pattern is a suggestion of the "crackle" half seen beneath the glaze of rare Satsuma ware; while faintest rainbow tints, a glint of gold, and deep embossing lend richness and variety never possible with wholly plain or tinted walls.

Beneath the ceiling of lighter tan the simple band border is a welcome touch of color, introducing deeper brown, rose and blue—exactly the shades which will be most harmonious and effective in rugs, overhangings and lamp shades.

CENTURIES ago the finest of wall coverings were sumptuous woven tapestries which served a double purpose—to keep out the cold and to bring cheerful colors to those dim old halls.

Today practically every home may have tapestried walls at very little cost, with wall paper.

Rich and velvety in effect, the Cologne is an almost perfect wall covering for the handsomest room in your home—living room, dining room, hall or library. Soft rosy shadows and a sheen of gold, like sunlight sifting through the leaves, gives this pattern richness and beauty often lacking in papers selling for a dollar or more a roll.

An added charm is the narrow band border with its deeper tints of rose and blue. The Cologne ceiling is very light tan.

ONE of the delightful things about new wall paper is its way of making everything in the room seem new.

Choose for your living room a paper in harmony with the tone of rugs, curtains, upholstery; you will be surprised to see how much brighter and fresher their colors become against the new wall.

This soft hued tapestry is one of these magic making patterns, as it will harmonize nicely with any color effect or any style of furniture.

Simple, dignified, unobtrusive, it is a paper of unmistakable quality. On your walls, as in this sample, you will be struck by the deep embossing and the extra weight of this fine paper.

Just a touch of green in your hangings will bring out the full beauty of the Robin Hood design, and show to best advantage the stylish band border and gray ceiling.

IN dignity, in richness or in quality few papers of its price can compare with the Westminster.

Hold it to the sunlight and you see its full loveliness; the graceful dignity of its gothic scroll against a field of gold; delicate hues of sapphire, topaz, rose playing beneath its shadows like sunlight filtering through cathedral windows.

For the spacious, well lighted living or dining room you could find no finer wall covering, no background more fitting for your nicest furniture.

This handsome, embossed paper will lend itself well to panelling, combined with panel molding 576 X 9153, Page 111, to bring out its richness of coloring. It may also be used with our narrow binders, 576 X 9123 or 687 X 9148, Page 111; or with its own pleasing cut out border and ceiling of lighter tan.

THE very newest floral papers are these airy tendril designs, in softest pastel tints against backgrounds of plain, clear color. Until you see your room repapered with the Parisian Damask you cannot imagine how cool and refreshing and how much larger it will seem.

Some people still hesitate to choose a large pattern lest it seem spotty and tiresome. You never could tire of this delightful paper. Its fairy flowers might be painted on shimmering satin, or embroidered on silvery damask.

Lovely indeed for your nicest bedroom, it is even lovelier for the living room shadowed by porch or trees, or the dining room where you have pretty, graceful furniture. With its silvery ceiling and simple band border to lend it dignity, the Parisian Damask compares easily with papers selling for a dollar a roll.

GRAY tattered clouds, wind swept across a deep blue sky; long, slanting sun turning all the world to rose and gold. This is the loveliness you bring your home with the Valhalla—richest and most beautiful of the new washed blends.

With its simple border of deeper browns and blues, it suggests itself at once for the living or dining room with dark polished floors and woodwork, and mission or darker weathered oak furniture.

Although full of color, these washed blends are restful to the eye, and they give a sense of spaciousness like looking into far off skies. A web of gold and silver through this design lightens and brightens its somewhat dull grays; the deep embossing brings out all their varying tones; and with its ceiling of silver gray, the Valhalla creates a room of quiet charm and beauty.

THE season offers no lovelier pattern than the Crepe Japanesque. At twice its price you would find nothing more delicate in coloring, more rich in texture, or more perfectly suited to your own pleasant home.

This graceful flowing design has size and dignity suitable for the large room, yet its pastel tints make it ideal for the small room as well. Against this clear fresh tan, the airy pattern will lend an effect of added size quite surprising.

True crepe papers are costly, but although the Japanesque has a rich ripple finish it is so inexpensive that less than $5 will buy enough for the room.

A fitting finish for a fine paper is the stylish band border, heavily pencilled in gold, a vivid note of color beneath the light tan ceiling. For a panel treatment use panel molding 576 X 9153, Page 111.

THE Tulip Tree is what is known as a retouched two-tone, one of the popular two-tone patterns with brightening touches of old blue, orange and yellow giving the effect of delicate water color work. With its rich, rough surface it resembles a mural painted directly upon the wall itself.

This wide, graceful branching figure will be at its best in the large living room, dining room or hall, which you can give surprising charm and beauty with lamp shades of warm pumpkin yellow and pillows or draperies in which are dashes of black, orange or deep blue.

The deep cut out border gives the effect of hand stenciling, while the ceiling is delicate gray. For a narrower border use binder 576 X 9122 or 576 X 9123. For panel effect use panel molding 576 X 9153 shown in color on Page 111.

IF you wish to give your home individuality as well as beauty, choose for its nicest room one of these new, handsome "rough cast" papers.

Look closely and you will see that the varying tints are part of the paper itself, tiny flecks of many colors, worked into the rough surface, which gives the effect of an unfinished plaster wall, beautifully tinted by hand.

Notice its cut out border, an applique design of brilliant autumn leaves, brought into relief by pencillings of gold—not printed, but actually glued to the paper.

You may have this handsome rough cast in a different tint in each of your downstairs rooms, for this same excellent paper comes also in gray, gray blue and buff. They are shown with borders to match on Page 93. Order numbers and prices on Page 92.

NEW only this season, these soft hued tapestry blends have sprung into instant favor with those who appreciate the finest in wall decoration.

And no wonder, for they are indeed lovely, combining the richness and variety of the tapestry with the softness of coloring which makes the blend such a pleasing back ground for your nicest furniture.

The deeply embossed design, which brings forth the full beauty of this pattern shows it to be paper of rich, heavy quality, the excellent quality by which you are glad to have your home judged.

But one thing is needed to make this pattern perfect, and that is the touch of rose and blue in its simple garland border—a delightful note of color against the creamy tan of the ceiling.

NEW only this season, the Nugget Rough Casts have won instant popularity. Like the plain rough casts shown on Pages 88 and 93, they give the effect of rough plaster skillfully tinted by hand. But their charm and novelty is the soft sparkle of gold which lends them such beauty and richness.

This golden flake is a newly discovered substance which is sifted over while the paper is in the making; it becomes actually a part of the paper itself, and will never rub off leaving your paper dull and colorless.

To bring out the full beauty of this wall we have chosen a most effective cut out border, whose deep red, green and blue is outlined in bright flitter gold. Against the tan ceiling it will be a welcome note of color, lightening and brightening its room. Binder 576 X 9147, Page 111, will also match the Nugget Rough Cast nicely.

HERE you see the fresh, lovely coloring of the Kensington; on Page 93 you may see this handsome English Chintz design complete, just as it will look panelled in your own living room.

Each season in the finest homes, people are using larger patterns, brighter colors. But to look their best in smaller rooms such patterns must be broken into panels.

Of course you may hang the Kensington in the usual way, with its narrow band border and tan ceiling. In large living room, hall or above a plate rail in a dining room it will be very pleasing.

But it will be most effective hung in panels, with a styling of harmonizing tan and narrow panel binder. This combination is illustrated on Page 93. Prices and suggestions for planning panelled rooms are on Page 92.

The Newest in Decoration—Panelled Walls

How to Order Kensington Garden for Paneling

If you wish your home decorated in the latest fashion, have your living room, dining room or hall paneled. And you can choose no handsomer paper than Kensington Garden shown on Page 91. On Page 93 you can see this same pattern divided into panels by a border or styling of plain embossed paper the same shade of the Kensington background; each panel framed by a 1½-inch border in black, gold and silver applique. Styling paper is 18 inches wide, to be cut any width desired. Binder is sold by the yard. Order enough to frame each panel and run strip around ceiling and baseboard. To find quantity needed, measure your room (see Page 125) and order one-third styling and one-third binder pattern, allowing one or more rolls extra of each.

The Rough Casts Shown in Color on Page 93 Are New and Pretty

To meet the eager demand for Rough Casts in a variety of colors, we this season offer these rich, handsome papers in three new shades—gray, gray blue and a warm, rosy buff shown on Page 93. These are the same heavy, excellent quality paper as our Nugget Rough Cast shown on Page 90, and are very similar in appearance, except they do not have the imprint of gold. For these papers we have selected our most beautiful border, which you may see in detail with our Mural Blend shown on Page 88. It is worked out in colors in harmony with each tint, the design richly outlined in flitter gold. Rough Casts are very effective used as the styling in panel treatment, or in series of adjoining rooms where you wish variety of color.

Chinoiserie

This handsome Chinese paper is designed for a paneled wall in a dining room, living room, hall or sun parlor. It is shown here in a novel double panel effect, but it will lend itself to any of the stylish panel treatment suggested in sketches on Pages 92 and 95.

The Chinoiserie is here combined with a styling of soft tan, an unfigured blend, and a 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch binder.

Actual samples of these papers are not shown in this book.

In ordering, specify:

Parrikeet

Here you see how effectively your own living room, dining room, hall or bedroom may be paneled with the Parrikeet.

The actual sample of this pattern on Page 96 gives the detail of its pretty bird and flower design; here you see how pleasing these large patterns become when broken up into panels.

The Parrikeet is set off by a styling of a soft gray blend and a 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch binder. Sketches on Pages 92 and 95 show how to space off any wall for paneling.

Panelled Walls Cost Very Little More

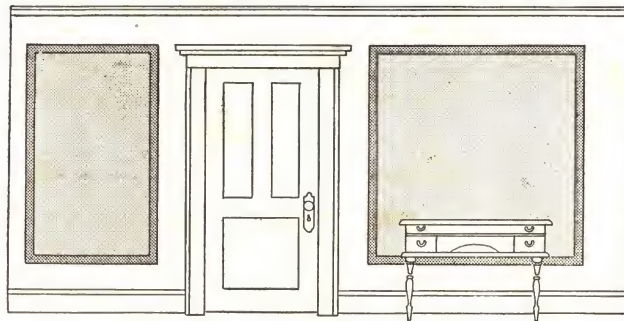

Fig. D

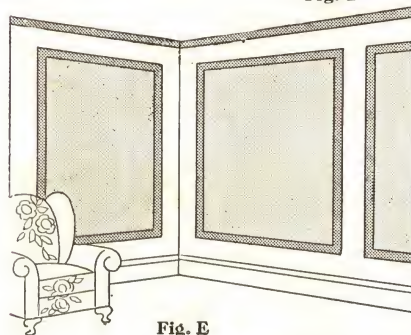

Fig. E

Fig. E shows best way to panel corners. Fig. F suggests paneling when opening comes very close to corner. All corners of a room must be paneled alike, and panels on all four sides of room should balance as nearly as possible for the most pleasing effect.

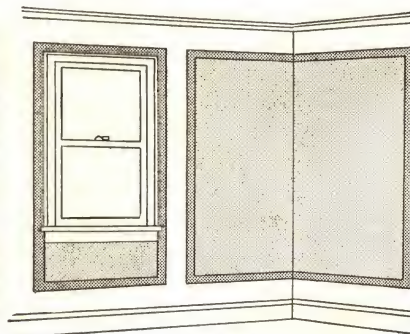

Fig. F

Let panels form frames for doors and windows. Fig. D shows arrangement for door or window not centered in wall. Fig. F below shows how to run a panel around a window. Don't try to panel rooms where openings are too irregular or unbalanced.

How to Order Chinoiserie for Paneling

An actual sample of the Chinoiserie is not given, but on Page 94 this quaint Chinese pattern is shown in detail in natural colors, so you can see how delightful it will be for dining room, living room or sun parlor.

How to Order Parrikeet for Paneling

Paneling will cost you very little more than an ordinary wall paper, but the delight and satisfaction of having your room so artistically and stylishly decorated is well worth the slight additional expense.

Look on Page 94 and see how much lovelier the Parrikeet becomes when broken into panels. This is exactly the same beautiful paper as the sample shown on Page 96, with a border or styling of soft gray, the same as the predominating gray of the Parrikeet. Panels are set off by a 1 1/4-inch binder in a scroll design of rose, cream and blue. You could not choose a more handsome combination for living or dining room, or your finest bedroom. Styling is 18 inches wide, to be cut the width desired. Binder is sold by the yard. Order enough to frame each panel and also to run strip around ceiling and baseboard if desired. To find amount needed, measure your room (see Page 125), ordering one-third styling paper and two-thirds pattern, allowing one or more rolls extra of each.

ONLY when it is on your walls can you see the full beauty of the Parrikeet, but the moment the first strip is hung you will rejoice in the loveliness this paper has brought to your home.

Here you catch but a glimpse of its design, but on Page 94 you may see how your own living or dining room will look panelled in this exquisite pattern.

Notice the heavy quality of the paper itself, its deep embossing, and the delicate blending of its crayoned coloring. Good wall paper is always an economy, for its superior quality is ever apparent, and it retains its richness and beauty as long as it is on your walls.

You may hang the Parrikeet in the usual way, with its narrow binder as a border, but as you can see it will be most effective and stylish panelled.

FOR handsome, massive furniture you must choose a background of richness and dignity, and what could be more fitting than this—our finest paper?

With its deep coloring, this beautiful metallic blend suggests strength and protection—the very foundation stones of home.

Choose it for the large, well lighted living or dining room, and its warm brown will soften the brightness, while sunlight will reveal all its shining beauty.

Against a background of the side wall colors, the cut out border gives the effect of hand stencilling, a touch quite in keeping with a paper of such evident excellence. Lightened and brightened by a ceiling of harmonizing tan, the Troubadour will create a room which will be the pride of every member of the household, the envy of every guest who enters your home.

This is printed on the back of an actual sample of the side wall paper.

In order to give you an idea of how it will look on the wall, the border to match is shown, reduced to about one-third actual size.

The border for this pattern is actually 4½ inches wide.

The border, as usual, is printed and sold in separate rolls from the side wall.

AT last, we have found what we have sought for years, a wonderful new process called Hermatite, which makes wall paper colorfast, washable, wear resisting, yet sacrifices none of its beauty.

What would it be worth to you to put on your dining room, hall, vestibule or any room where children play or study, a paper you could actually wash, knowing that every grubby fingerprint, pencil mark, smudge or spot of grease would disappear?

A dollar and a half is mighty little to pay for such practical features, especially when it brings you paper of such style and beauty. And remember—this beauty is yours always. Hermatite papers never fade.

The stylish band border is also treated with hermatite finish. The ceiling is the same excellent quality as border and side wall, but not hermatited.

IT is seldom that you can buy a high grade ceiling paper for only 7½¢ a single roll. But this rich, softly patterned Silver Cloud is not only pretty and artistic, but a good substantial grade of paper which will be easy to hang.

Our Independent Ceiling Papers are designed to harmonize with any pattern in this book. The Silver Cloud comes in white, like this sample, suitable to use with any of our light toned papers. It also comes in a rich yellow cream to harmonize with medium or dark toned patterns.

We provide these Independent Ceilings for those who wish to buy ceiling paper only. Or you may prefer this to the ceiling which is listed with the side wall pattern you have chosen.

Will Always Buy from Ward's

"My paper is on the wall and it is just beautiful. I did my own papering and it was not any trouble because it all matched fine."

"I will always get my wall paper from Ward's."

Mrs. John Moore,
 Bone Cove, Tenn.

Easy to Hang

"I like your wall paper very much. I put it on the walls myself and my rooms look real nice."

"I like your way of showing the border right with the paper, but it is much prettier on the wall. Thank you for sending it so very promptly."

Mrs. W. H. Cady,
 Columbus, O.

THE ceiling is a most important part of the room; and when it becomes stained and dingy, the entire room looks shabby.

Often when you would not think of repapering a room, you can refresh it at little expense by hanging a new ceiling.

This pattern has a delicate, half invisible design, considered the most artistic for the ceiling. In this warm tan with a sifting of gold, it will harmonize with any of our dark or medium toned side walls.

It also comes in a gray white and gold, suitable to use with any of our white or lighter toned wall papers.

We provide these Independent Ceilings for those who wish to buy ceiling paper only; or you may prefer this to the ceiling listed with the side wall you have selected.

Saved 30¢ a Roll

"I am more than pleased with my paper, and I saved from 20¢ to 30¢ a roll by buying it from Ward's. I priced Varnish Tile Paper here, and they wanted 70¢ a roll. I got the same kind of paper from Ward's for 40¢ a roll. I think it is a most economical way to buy paper; it saves time and money, and takes only a short time to get the order."

Mrs. Lewis Bennington,
Bellaire, Ohio.

Papered Two Rooms for Price of One

"The paper is on the walls of my bedroom and hall, having done the work myself. The paper is beautiful, more than fulfilling my expectations, and cost less than half what I could get it for here."

Paint Your Home With COVERALL

Make the outside of your home as attractive as the inside. While you are making your rooms brighter and more beautiful with Ward's Wall Paper, give the outside of your home a touch of beauty with Ward's COVERALL House Paint. The expense is slight compared with the increased value and added beauty and protection of your property.

COVERALL House Paint is a good paint because we make it in our own paint factory. It is made of pure white lead, zinc, linseed oil and other wear-resisting ingredients which long experience has taught us are necessary in good paint. We use no fish oil and no water. We guarantee the covering and wear of COVERALL House Paint.

Covers 250 to 300 square feet per gallon, two coats. This means less paint to complete the job and money saved as well. This maximum covering capacity enables every man to be his own painter, and all within the reach of every home owner.

Choice of white, black and thirty other colors. Make your selection from the list below, or refer to our General Catalogue No. 104 where the colors are shown. Shipping weights: 700, 350, 75, 48, 15 and 4 pounds.

Wardway Shingle Stain

One application of Wardway Creosote Shingle Stain will add years to the life of your shingles, whether old or new. It increases resistance against weather wear, and makes your roof more attractive. The deep penetration of the creosote oil contained in this stain produces that much desired, mottled effect and preserves the wood. Because of its creosote oil body, Wardway Shingle Stain prevents rot, decay and damage caused by boring insects. Brushed on, one gallon covers 100 square feet, two coats; 2 1/2 gallons will treat 1000 shingles dipped two-thirds their length. Shipping weights: 700, 330, 45 and 12 pounds.

Marproof Floor Varnish

Water Can Not Hurt Marproof

Marproof is a high grade floor Varnish. Water, either cold or boiling hot, heel marks, scratches and scars, make no impression on its hard, glossy surface. On new floors or old, it gives a bright, attractive finish. Using Marproof is true economy as it costs less than other varnishes and lasts longer. Shipping weights: 3, 4, 12 and 55 pounds.

Special Linoleum Varnish

Varnish your linoleum or oil cloth occasionally with this specially prepared varnish and it will last much longer. Dries hard, yet retains its elastic quality so it will not discolor, crack or chip off. Produces a smooth, easily cleaned and glossy surface. Shipping weights: 3, 4 and 12 pounds.

A Little Paint and Varnish And Dingy Floors and Walls Are Gone

In spring housecleaning time you not only want to clean your home from top to bottom, but you want to put bright new colors on the walls, fresh finish on the floors and woodwork, and brighten up the furniture. Right here you will find listed every kind of interior paint or varnish. Our prices are low for these fine quality paints and varnishes. You can afford to redecorate the entire house, and Ward's Paint and Varnish are made to make the job easy and satisfactory. One gallon of our varnish will cover 600 square feet on oak, or 400 square feet on pine, one coat.

Ward's Penetrating Stain

A single coat gives new wood that soft stained effect over which you may use either wax or varnish, depending upon whether you want a dull or glossy finish. This Stain is for new work only—for floors, woodwork, book cases or furniture. It does not raise the grain, but merely penetrates the wood and brings out the beautiful natural colors. Ward's Penetrating Stain is a beautiful as well as economical finish. It is easy to apply. Shipping weight, per gallon, 10 1/2 lbs. State color wanted.

For Interior or Exterior Use

Tough and weather resisting. Wardspar is the varnish for outside jobs such as porch ceilings, vestibules, window sills, or doors; for inside use where an exceptionally good spar varnish is required. It dries in six to eight hours, giving a bright, hard, waterproof finish. Use Wardspar on any surface that gets unusually hard wear. Shipping weights: 3, 4, 12 and 55 pounds.

Ward-Lac A Lacquer for Floors

Dries
In One Hour

Ward-Lac is the newest and most practical lacquer for refinishing floors, furniture and woodwork. Ward-Lac dries much harder than varnish and with a toughness and durability that can not be found in any other floor finish. Apply like a varnish. It can be used over varnished surfaces without removing the old finish, excepting in cases where the varnish is badly worn and discolored. Then it is necessary to remove the old finish with Paint and Varnish Remover. Ward-Lac can not be thinned with any liquid excepting Ward-Lac Thinner which is also required for cleaning the brush used to apply Ward-Lac. For each gallon of Ward-Lac order 1 quart of Ward-Lac Thinner. Ward-Lac will cover about 350 sq. ft. of surface per gal., one coat.

Zinc White House Paint

$1.98 Stays White Longer—Spreads Easily

As its name indicates, Zinc White has zinc oxide instead of lead oxide for a base. It was developed several years ago to meet the demand for a white exterior paint that will retain its original snow white beauty even after many years of exposure to the elements. Because of its chemical properties Zinc White has much greater resistance. It is even used with much success on buildings exposed to strong fumes and gases which would by chemical action discolor any other paint. It can be applied over old paint and usually one coat is sufficient. The easy flowing qualities, great covering capacity and excellent finish of Zinc White has brought it into great favor with practical painters. If used as filler on new work, Zinc White should be thinned with linseed oil. It comes ready for use over old paint or primed surfaces. The pigments used are the finest obtainable. Pure linseed oil and turpentine add to the long life of this paint. It comes in white only but may be tinted in the usual way. Average covering capacity, is 250 square feet, two coats to the gallon. Shipping weights: 700, 330, 60, 40 and 15 pounds.

Ward's Automobile Enamel

You can do a fine paint job with Wardway Automobile Enamel at only a small part of what it would cost to have a painter do it. A quart of enamel is all you need for most open cars, and a little more for closed cars. You don't even have to remove the old enamel; just see that it is dry, clean and smooth. You'll be surprised at the good job you can do and how simple it is to paint your car. A faded looking car can quickly be changed into a bright, shiny, new looking auto. The high gloss finish of Wardway Enamel is lasting and will stand heat, cold, rain and mud.

Imitation Stained Glass

Vitrophone is a strong, tough paper treated to make it almost transparent, and decorated in rich, artistic colorings to resemble stained glass. Although it lets the light in perfectly you cannot see through it, which makes it the ideal covering for glass doors or bathroom windows.

You Can Wash Vitrophone

Vitrophone is as practical as it is convenient and economical. It is almost waterproof and you can wash it as frequently as necessary; with care it will last for years, always a pretty, attractive window.

You yourself can easily put Vitrophone on your windows. One side comes prepared with a strong adhesive and enduring glue. Full directions are included with your order.

Ready for the Window

Vitrophone is shipped to you in big, convenient rolls, carefully protected so the paper will not crush or wrinkle. Comes 18 inches wide, the most convenient size for the average door or window light.

Fiber Veneer For Wainscoting or Panelling

Fiber Veneer is an extra heavy grade of paper printed to give the effect of expensive grained wood. Fiber veneer is being widely used in halls, dining rooms and libraries of the handsomest homes, and also in stores and offices.

In the large hall with open stairway it is a very effective wainscoting when applied to one-third the height of the wall. In the dining room it is usually used below the plate rail. Varnished with Ward's Mirolite it becomes a rich, warm brown very similar to oak; it will wear almost indefinitely.

Fiber veneer is hung like wall paper with an extra heavy paste. Comes in 8-yard rolls, 30 inches wide. Shipping weight, per roll, 2½ pounds.

Hang Your Own Wall Paper

HANGING Wall Paper is not as difficult as most people think. Once the walls are prepared, the job is half done. Work carefully, following these simple directions, and you will be surprised at how quickly the room is papered, how well it looks, and how much you have saved.

Materials You Will Need

It is best to use our Paper Hangers' Folding Pasting Table 175 X 818 shown on Page 122, but you can work on three smooth boards, eight or ten inches wide, resting firmly on boxes or tables.

Have another stout plank, nearly the length of the room, to use as a platform to stand on. It should rest firmly on chairs or boxes high enough to bring your head within six inches of the ceiling.

Before you start to work, have the following materials ready:

Wardway Dry Paste 75 X 881—Page 122.

Paste Brush—Page 122.

Smoothing Brush—Page 122. Or whisk broom.

Trimmer—Page 122. Or sharp shears.

Seam Roller—Page 122. Or furniture caster.

How to Prepare Walls

For best results, walls should be sized before paper is hung. It is best to use our Decorators' Wall Size 576 X 5080—Page 114. But satisfactory sizing can be made as follows: soak one pound ground glue for twelve hours in just enough water to cover, add twelve quarts of hot water and a tablespoonful of alum, and apply while warm.

New Walls Never Before Papered. Make sure that walls are smooth by scraping off all sand particles with a block of wood; then apply a thin coat of sizing. If walls are very rough apply in addition a thin coat of paste and allow to dry before papering.

Painted Walls. To remove grease and oil, wash walls with solution of one part ammonia to six parts water. Let the wall dry thoroughly and apply a thin coat of Decorators' Wall Sizing.

Kalsomined or Whitewashed Walls. Wash off kalsomine or whitewash with warm water and sponge. Let dry thoroughly and apply sizing.

Stained or Damp Walls. Spread a thin coat of orange shellac over damp spots. Apply sizing.

Board Walls and Ceilings. Cover with cheese-cloth or muslin, tacking about two inches from edge and corners. Paste down this edge. A coat of sizing will shrink the cloth tight to the wall.

Previously Papered Walls. Remove old paper by washing down with warm water and scraping with the dull edge of a knife.

Be Careful to clean and size walls thoroughly around ceilings and baseboards. You will thus avoid having the paper curl at these points.

Marking and Measuring

The first step in hanging paper is to draw a guide line the length of the ceiling, sixteen inches from the side wall. This is best done by driving a nail at each end of the ceiling, sixteen inches from the side wall. Chalk a piece of cord, stretch taut between the nails, grasp it at the center and pull it down. As it snaps back it strikes the ceiling, leaving a straight chalked line. Measure the length of the ceiling.

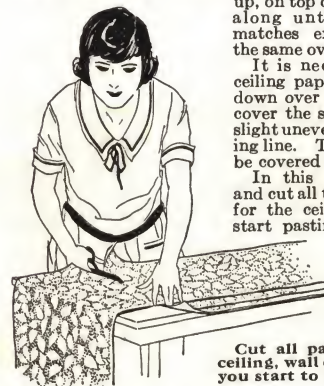

Cutting and Matching

Unroll the ceiling paper, face up, on the pasting table and cut the first strip the length needed for the ceiling, allowing about two inches at each end to come down over the side wall. Lay the second strip, pattern side up, on top of the first; move along until the pattern matches exactly, allowing the same overlap. Then cut.

It is necessary for the ceiling paper to come well down over the side wall to cover the space left, due to slight unevenness in the ceiling line. This overlap will be covered by the border.

In this manner, match and cut all the paper needed for the ceiling before you start pasting. Paste and hang the strips in the order you have cut them.

Cut all paper needed for ceiling, wall or border before you start to hang.

Now You Are Ready to Paste

Now turn the paper over, pattern side down, allowing one end to hang over the pasting table so the paper will not curl. Have your paste ready. Start spreading paste at about the center, and paste toward one end. Be sure the paste is spread evenly, and is free from lumps or heavy layers. It is not advisable to spread paste on too thick. Thin layers, evenly applied, give a neater job.

It is most convenient to buy dry paste already prepared. You will find Wardway Dry Paste listed on Page 122, very excellent and economical. But very satisfactory flour paste may be made at home.

How to Make Flour Paste

Add three pints of flour to two quarts cold water. Mix thoroughly, rubbing out all lumps. Add eight quarts boiling water and boil slowly for ten minutes.

Paste only one strip at a time and hang it at once. Be sure you have brushed out all lumps and heavy layers.

stirring constantly; when cool add one tablespoonful powdered alum, stirring in well. When paste runs off brush smoothly it's ready to use. Makes enough for a medium size room.

Folding Each Strip

When you have pasted one-half the length, take this pasted end and fold it back to the center, pasted sides together. Be sure to keep side edges exactly even, and do not crease the paper.

Now spread the paste on the other end and fold it back to the center in the same way. It is best to paste one strip at a time, and to hang it at once, especially when working on the lighter weight papers.

If your strip is longer than the table, paste the left end first; and when it has been folded, draw it gently along pasting table and let it rest on the floor while the other end is being pasted. Keep the floor under pasting table free from dust and pasted scraps which might soil the paper.

Be sure the edges are even. Do not crease the paper.

It Is Easy.... It Is Economical

Always Trim After Pasting

The next step is trimming. For safety, always trim after you have finished pasting. Use our regular Wall Paper Trimmer shown on Page 122, or any long very sharp shears. Cut off the unprinted edge, leaving the other selvage to lap under in hanging. Be sure to trim right up to the printed edge and as evenly as possible, in order to get a good looking finished wall.

Ceiling Is Hung First

Always paper the ceiling first. If side wall is papered first, it is likely to become soiled while the ceiling paper is being hung.

Take the first ceiling strip which you have just pasted, folded and trimmed. Unfold the end to your right (you always begin papering at the right hand corner of the ceiling) and mount your platform. Let the end which is still folded hang down over a roll of paper which you hold in your left hand, as shown in illustration at the right.

With the right hand guide the paper along the chalk line, at the same time pressing it to the ceiling with the flat of your hand or a smoothing brush, and smooth it carefully as you move along. Have the first strip cover the sixteen inches you have marked off, allowing two inches of ceiling paper to come down over the side wall all the way around the room. Hang each succeeding strip in the same way, matching the pattern carefully.

Hanging the Side Wall

Measure the height of the side wall and cut the first strip long enough to come within three or four inches of the ceiling, depending on the width of the border. As you cut each succeeding strip, match pattern carefully. You may have to cut off several inches of waste, but this can be used over doors and windows. It is well to allow two or three inches to lap over baseboard to take care of slight variations in height of room. After a strip is hung it is easily trimmed with trimmer or shears.

Always be sure strip is straight and matches perfectly before you let it touch the wall.

Place platform or step ladder about twelve inches from the wall. Always commence at opening—door or window—and work toward the right.

Take the freshly pasted, folded and trimmed side wall strip, and unfold it at the top, being sure the pattern is right side up. Holding the two top corners, lean forward and look down along the joining to be sure the pattern is properly matched, making a perfect design where the two strips join. Move the strip up or down until matching is perfect, then allow the paper to touch the wall, smoothing down carefully with smoothing brush or a whisk broom. If strip is not perfectly matched when hung, remove it at once and hang it over again. When paste is almost dry (about ten minutes after hanging), roll the seams with a seam roller or furniture caster. Do not roll embossed paper, as it will leave a lighter streak.

Border must match perfectly at every joining. Always order enough extra to allow for perfect matching.

Border is Hung Last

Border may be cut in five or six-foot lengths for ease in hanging. Apply the paste first, then with shears or sharp knife detach cut out pattern along perforated edge. Start hanging at corner of the room, working to either right or left. Allow the end to lap over one or more inches on adjoining wall. Paste, fold and trim as usual. Unfold one end, and, guiding upper edge of border close against the ceiling line, brush it smooth against the wall with your smoothing brush as you move along.

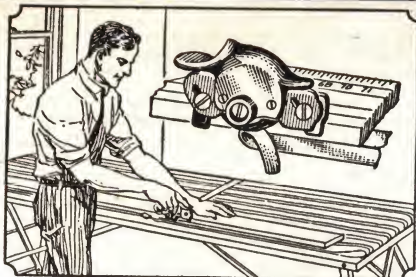

To Avoid Smearing

Never roll the seams till paste is almost dry—fully ten minutes after the strip is hung.

Always paste before you trim. On Page 5 we explain why this is so important.

Matching Color

Occasionally rolls of the same pattern vary slightly in shade. It is wise to examine carefully all the rolls to be used in one room before starting to hang. If a variation is noticed, sort the rolls, hanging the lighter paper together on the dark side of the room and darker paper together on light side. In this way no variation will be noticeable, for light from the windows often makes one side of a room appear lighter than the other, even when all the rolls are exactly the same shade.

Wall Paper Trimming Outfit

This patented Trimmer has many improved features. Trimmer has a forward and downward movement against the paper and will not raise the straight edge from the table regardless of the pressure applied. It is not necessary to exert heavy pressure to hold the straight edge in place. Circular blade has a keen cutting edge, so essential for cutting several thicknesses at one time and for such materials as wall burlap, pressed papers, linocrust and other wall coverings.

Outfit consists of rotary trimmer, straight edge for measuring, and zinc strip to place under the paper when cutting. Diameter of cutting blades, 2 inches.

Packages sent by parcel post are delivered right to your home, and usually the charges are much less than by express.

The Parcel Post Map at the left shows the territory served by our Chicago House—the circles representing the parcel post zones from Chicago. Find the zone in which you live, either by locating your own town or the one nearest you shown on the map.

To find the postage charges on your order, add the total shipping weight of the patterns ordered, using the actual shipping weights given on the back of each sample.

The chart below the map gives the Official Parcel Post rates per pound to any zone.

Example

If you live in the third zone and order merchandise weighing 10 pounds, the parcel post charge is 8¢ for the first pound and 2¢ for each of the nine additional pounds (18¢), making a total of 26¢.

Packages weighing up to and including 8 ounces may be mailed to any zone for 1½¢ for each 2 ounces.

Weight Limit

Packages not exceeding 70 pounds in weight each may be mailed to any postoffice in Zones 1, 2 and 3. Packages which do not exceed 50 pounds in weight may be mailed to all zones.

Be sure to add enough to your remittance to pay the postage. We guarantee safe delivery.
